The result in Maine is a stunning blow to the Republicans. And Taft and Cannon both told the voters there that Roosevelt was the issue.

Really, Mr. Bryan's government ownership talk doesn't seem to have helped the Republicans in the Congressional elections in Maine.

It is useless to try to explain away the Republican disaster—for it was nothing less in Maine—by talking about "off-year," "local issues," etc. "You can't fool all the people all the time."

Col. Bryan laments that he cannot speak in more than one language. We share his regret to the extent that we are sorry he isn't able to do his railroad talking in some language that is harder to understand than plain English.

One of the lecturers on anatomy in John Hopkins University spoke of the uses of the backbone. One use politicians can make of the backbone is to back it up with a courageous expression of his honest views and deep convictions.

The New York Prohibition Party has declared for government ownership of railroads. With a lot of railroad stocks heavily watered, we might have known that the prohibionists would have come to the conclusion that they are worth owning.

The result of the elections in Maine, both State and Congressional, is substantially a Democratic victory. None but enthusiasts expected the Democrats to carry the State, and very few thinking men imagined that the Republican majorities would be reduced 75 per cent.

After seeing the picture of the promoter who got $5,000,000 from Philadelphia's looted bank, we have't got the heart to blame the president for commtting suicide at the thought of even being deceived into lending 30 cents to a fellow that was trying to to do business on a mug like his.

And now the corpulent Taft says he is in favor of tariff revision. If the Republicans continue their thefts of the political garments of the Democrats there is danger that our party will soon be reduced to the extremity of parading in the Georgia uniform—a shirt collar and a pair of spurs.

IN COUNTY POLITICS.

Further Interest Is Injected Into Local Campaign as to State Senator.

DELEGATES TO BE NAMED.

Intimation That They Will Not be Bound by Action of Voters at Polls—Registration Progressing Satisfactorily—Other Notes.

There was further interest injected into the local State Senatorial campaign yesterday upon an announced interview with Mr. G. J. Boney, of the late County Convention, in which he stated that regardless of the action of the Democratic County Executive Committee calling for an expression of the people at the polls upon the question of who will represent the county in the Upper House of the General Assembly, that he will appoint the delegates to the Senatorial Convention before the primary is held with the intimation that these delegates will not be bound in convention by any action of the people at the primary.

Mr. Boney is quoted as saying that he is already at work on his list of delegates to participate in the nomination of the Senator from this District and that the personnel of the delegation will be announced this week. As the Senatorial Convention will not meet until after the primary is held and there is an expression of the people, it will be interesting to see whether these delegates will disregard the wishes of the voters as expressed at the polls and make a nomination contrary, regardless of the manner of their appointment. In the event of the naming of these delegates and action hostile to the will of the people, the complication is regarded as one that will be decidedly interesting. The matter is being freely discussed on the streets and all sorts of contingencies are declared to be possible.

The registration is progressing very satisfactorily at the polls this week in spite of the fact that the transcript of the books used for registration purposes does not contain the residence, age and other information usually carried on the books, which were not copied by the Register of Deeds in complete form. Inasmuch as there may be some confusion because of this omission, it would be well for every voter to call by his place of registration and see that his name is correctly entered. The books are open at the several polling places from 8 A. M., to 6 P. M., and the registrars will be glad to give any information and register anyone anew where it is thought necessary.

Owing to the large number of officers to be voted for in this primary, Chairman Jas. H. Burriss is having an additional number of boxes made so that there will be a separate box for each office. These will all be ready and sent out to the various polling places before next Wednesday.

Chairman Burriss again makes the request that all who desire to submit their names to the primary for the office of magistrate will please notify him by Saturday noon of this week. It is desired to simplify the voting for the large number as much as possible and it will be necessary to arrange for the printing of the tickets beforehand.

As to The Game Law.

A subscriber asks the Star if it is, or is not, against the bird law to shoot "bull bats" (night hawks)? He says that Friday afternoon he noticed two huntsmen on the Castle Haynes road, near Sans Souci farm shooting them. It is pointed out that they destroy thousands of mosquitoes and should not be killed. The Star has it upon authority of the attorney for the local game warden that it is a violation of the law to kill these birds at any time.

ICE SUPPLY SHORT.

Least Suggestion of a Famine in Curtailment of Deliveries by Local Company Yesterday—Bad Luck With Machinery.

The Independent Ice Company has had the worst sort of luck in effecting repairs to its plant in this city, which was put out of commisison in the blowing out of a cylinder head and the wrecking of its engine last Sunday a week ago, and in consequence thereof the city yesterday had its first suggestion of an ice famine. Large consumers were asked for the day to reduce their usual orders where it could be done without injury and smaller patrons who applied at the ice depot on Dock street yesterday afternoon could not get their orders filled at all.

Since the plant has been disabled, the local demand has been supplied from factories at Rocky Mount, Wilson and elsewhere and the shortage yesterday is attributed to the non-arrival of a car load of the frigid article which was expected from Wilson and the natural heavy demand on Tuesday for refrigeration purposes. When the reported shortage was noised about the streets yesterday, alarming reports of an ice famine were set on foot and Mr. L. H. Simomns, general manager of the company, was called up last night for the purpose of ascertaining the true condition of affairs. Mr. Simmons said that there was absolutely no occasion for alarm; that 50 tons of ice would be in this morning and would be distributed in as large quantities as desired; that the Worth ice factory, which had been shut down some time, had just been gotten into successful operation and that there would be an abundant supply on hand from now on. The machinery for the engine which was wrecked had been delayed at the factory longer than had been expected but that it should get here by Thursday and the big plant would be running again in a short time. Some of the butchers, he said, were asked and voluntarily agreed to take a smaller amount yesterday for refrigeration purposes with the assurance that they could not get all they wanted on the following day. A few small orders were turned down at the ice depot on Dock street yesterday afternoon, but there would be no occasion for this in the future. Mr. Simmons said that while ice was being imported here and sold at a sacrifice by the company, they would continue the supply from outside factories and would see that the public does not suffer.

THE MISSING MAN IS FOUND.

Marcus W. Nichols, the carpenter in the employ of the A. C. L. shops in this city who disappeared from his home, No. 311 Hanover street, Friday afternoon, has been located in Richmond after hours of weary waiting and watching by his wife and friends here. Mr. Nichols wired to his foreman at the shops yesterday that he was in Richmond and asked that an employe's pass be sent him so that he could return to his home. The man gave no excuse for his disappearance from home and his telegram indicated that he was in possession of all his faculties. Either the railroad pass or the transportation will be wired him and he is expected back in the city at once. The case is a most unusual one and has attracted much attention in the city.

Requisition For Norfolk Man.

Governor Glenn has granted to Chief of Police Williams a requisition on the Governor of Virginia for the man Edwin E. Grant, arrested about ten days ago at Norfolk on a charge of larceny by trick from The Orton Hotel. The request for the requisition was forwarded before a telegram was received from Norfolk stating that the man had been tried and convicted there. Chief Williams will probably hold the requisition here until the man West or Grant has completed his service of the penalty in Virginia. Then he will doubtless be brought here for the Orton charge.

Died at Freeman's, N. C.

News reached the city yesterday of the sudden death of Mr. Jesse Smith, a venerable citizen of Freeman's, Columbus county. Mr. Smith was 72 years of age and suffered a stroke of something like paralysis yesterday morning and died before medical assistance could be had. The funeral will be conducted at Freeman's this morning.

AS TO WATER WORKS

Company Not Yet Advised Officially of Action of Aldermen Monday Night.

SUBJECT MUCH DISCUSSED.

Appraisement of Value of Existing Plant Now Seems Popular With Majority of Aldermen and Perhaps Also With Commission.

The future action of the city with respect to the water works proposition, following the proceedings of the Board of Aldermen Monday night, was discussed with a variety of comment on the streets yesterday. From City Clerk and Treasurer Fowler it was learned yesterday evening that the delicate task of officially informing the Clarendon Water Works Company that it had not and is not now complying with its contract with the city, had been postponed until to-day. Mr. Fowler will address a courteous note to the company advising it of the action of the Aldermen after which "subsequent events" will be watched with interest.

Mr. Fowler will at the same time convey to the officials of the company an invitation to come before the next meeting of the Board and outline a plan by which it will be mutually satisfactory for both parties to proceed with negotiations for the purchase of the present plant. It may be stated reasonably certain that an appraisement will be suggested and there appears now little doubt but that this method of procedure will be satisfactory to a majority of the members of the Board of Aldermen. This with no prejudice to the opinion of Chairman Johnson, of the Commission, who has worked faithfully in season and out of season to provile the city with an adequate and pure supply of water.

According to the contract with the company, regardless of whether or not the contract has been complied with, this is the method prescribed and from views expressed by a majority of the Board of Aldermen, it appears that they have confidence in their fellow man and are willing to trust the interests of the city to disinterested experts to come from outside the State, one to be named by the water company, one by the city and in case they are unable to agree on a price, to call in a third disinterested man, likewise from outside the State. There are those who incline to the opinion that justice could be nearer arrived at by adding two business men of Wilmington to the Board of appraisement and it is presumed that should the city so request, the water company would not object to this enlargement of the proposed board.

The Water Commission thus far, as a whole, has not made a final report to the Board of Aldermen and it was stated yesterday on good authority that a majority of the Commission even is favorable to the arbitration plan, in case it is deemed expedient to purchase the existing plant. The question is being much discussed on the streets just at present and when the matter is finally brought up at the Board of Aldermen the first Monday night in October and the water works representatives are present as they certainly will be, it is expected that there will also be in attendance many citizens interested in the proposition for municipal ownership.

MAYOR'S COURT YESTERDAY.

Negro Not Guilty of Burglary—Cases of Drayman.

John McNeal, colored, was arraigned before the Mayor in the police court yesterday on a charge of burglary. He was arrested before day yesterday morning by Mounted Policeman D. W. Coleman upon a warrant by colored men named Tyson and Faison, who charged that he had entered their houses in the southern part of the city night before last. At the trial, however, the complainants were not so sure of their man and he was discharged.

Cornelius McNeil, a small colored boy, was charged by Officer M. P. Newton with jumping on and off cars of the Consolidated Company. He was given a sharp reprimand by the Mayor and discharged.

Five draymen were arraigned on a charge of not having license. Four of them showed that they had no intention of violating the law and were let off with payment of the tax. The fifth was taxed with the costs. He had no semblance of an excuse for failing to have his dray numbered as the law directs.

VETERANS OF FISHER.

Indications Point to Large Attendance of Survivors Here Next Tuesday—Letter From Col. Lamb, Confederate Commander.

Rev. J. A. Smith, who is at the head of the movement for the meeting of the veterans of Fort Fisher in this city next Tuesday for the purpose of forming an association of the survivors of that memorable engagement, has received letters from eighteen or twenty old soldiers interested and fully one hundred of them are expected here for the meeting. Arrangements for their entertainment while here are under way and exact details of the gathering will be announced in a few days.

It is much regretted that Col. William Lamb, of Norfolk, commander of the Confederate forces at Fisher, cannot be present, but his heart is thoroughly in accord with the movement. Rev. Mr. Smith has received the following letter from him:

Norfolk, Va., August 30, 1906.
Rev. J. A. Smith, Wilmington, N. C.

My Dear Comrade:—Your letter has been received with the enclosed clipping, and I am so thoroughly in sympathy with your movement that I am much distressed because I cannot see my way clear to be in Wilmington on the 18th of next month. I have most important engagements for the third week in September which it is impossible for me to cancel. There is no one to whose call I would more quickly respond than your own, for I know how heroically you and your companions fought to defend that portion of Ft. Fisher, where for some unknown cause my orders were not carried out.

I had a most cordial invitation from the 117th. New York Volunteers Regimental Association to attend their re-union on August 22nd. last, and to bring some of the surviving defenders of Ft. Fisher with me. I wrote them that I would be unable to attend but that if I had, I would like to have you, Judge Fulmore and my acting adjutant, Jno. N. Kelly, with me.

I suppose you know that the letter you wrote to the 117th. U. S. Volunteers inviting them to come to Ft. Fisher was printed in the Utica papers. I was pleased with the handsome compliment you paid President Roosevelt. I hope some one sent him a copy of the paper for I know he would have appreciated what you said of him.

Keep me posted as to what you do on the 18th.

Your friend,
WILLIAM LAMB.

UNLOADED THEIR JUGS.

Interesting Incident of Fayetteville Excursion to Wilmington Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer has the following: Perry's "Big Fish" Excursion left for Wilmington this morning conveying a large crowd of people, with cars for both whites and blacks. The train had proceeded but a few blocks when it was stopped, and then a queer scene was enacted: Jug after jug was dumped from the train until a great pile, over one hundred and fifty, of various denominations, from one gallon up, arose along side the railfoad track on the corner of Russell and Donaldson streets. The train then went on its way, no explanation of this queer action being given. It was not very long before the news spread up town, and great crowds flocked to see the sight. A photographer soon appeared on the scene, and he took a photograph of the pile, with a woman, representing Carrie Nation, standing over the jugs with a hatchet upraised in her hands in the act of breaking them. The jugs were all empty, and whether they were being taken to Wilmington to be filled by some of the excursionists or "blind tigers," or for what other purpose is as yet a mystery. Certain it is that "Fish" Perry had them put off.

On Their Way to the Pen.

Officers from Columbus county were in the city Monday with three prisoners on their way to begin terms in the State penitentiary, having been sentenced at last week's term of the Superior Court at Whiteville. Exum Battle and his son, charged with the murder of another negro near Lake Waccamaw and burying his body in a stable lot, were two of the number. The old man was sent up for 15 years for complicity in the crime and the son was given 30 years for the actual killing. The son was wounded while resisting arrest by the Columbus officers and on of his legs was amputated while he was in jail. The third prisoner was sent up for larceny.

ITS FIRST ANNUAL.

Stockholders of Carolina Savings and Trust Company in Session Yesterday.

BUSINESS HAS BEEN GOOD.

Remarkably Fine Showing Made by Wilmington's Newest and One of Its Most Progressive Banking Institutions.

The first annual meeting of the stockholders of the Carolina Savings and Trust Company, Wilmington's youngest yet one of its most progressive banking institutions, was held yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the president's office on Front street. Mr. J. G. Barentine was called to the chair and Cashier J. Holmes Davis acted as secretary. It was ascertained that 337 out of 500 shares of the stock were represented, a large part of it in person, showing a general interest in the affairs of the institution by the men who own it.

After discussing the business of the bank at some length and expressing gratification at the remarkable progress of the institution since its establishment so short a time ago, the old Board of Directors was unanimously re-elected as follows:

Messrs. Robt. R. Bellamy, James F. Post, Duncan McEachern, Wm. Calder, Isaac Shrier, Thos. Wilson, Geo. R French, Mitchell F. Allen Robert C. DeRosset, J. G. Barrentine, Joseph T. Foy, Wm. E. Worth, S. H. Chadbourn, C. W. Yates, John S. Armstrong and M. S. Willard.

President Armstrong stated that the bank had made profits of 30 per cent. during the past year and that the outlook continued bright for the accomplishment of even greater things. It was decided not to declare a dividend at this time as there was no necessity of doing so. Mr. Armstrong made a formal report showing assets of $357,895.38 on Sept. 4th, and quoted other figures showing the finances of the bank in fine shape. Concluding his report Mr. Armstrong said:

"Our success has been largely due to the good work by our shareholders, and if our stockholders will continue aiding the officers of the bank in its upbuilding it will not be long before our figures will run into nine. We have advertised extensively, with satisfactory results, at considerable expense, all of which has been charged off. We have handled a large amount of loans during the year, happily without the loss of a dollar. Our stock is widely distributed among about 120 holders, all of whom appear to be doing excellent work in behalf of our young bank. I am sure that the hearty thanks of the shareholders are due our directors for the splendid work done by them during the past year. The president and cashier greatly appreciate the aid given them by our directory."

Immediately following the meeting of stockholders, the Directors had their annual session and re-elected Mr. Armstrong president and Mr. J. Holmes Davis cashier. Messrs. R. C. DeRosset, J. G Barentine and J. T. Foy were elected to constitute the Examining Committee and Messrs. M. S. Wilalrd, R. R. Bellamy and George R. French were named as the Loan Committee.

Interesting Civil Suit.

Justice Bornemann yesterday docketed a novel suit for damages brought by F. M. Bryant, proprietor of Bryan't ice cream parlors on North Front street, against the Consolidated Railways, Light and Power Co. Mr. Bryant conducted a branch establishment on the beach last Summer and sets up that a freezer of cream shipped down on the suburban line to the branch establishment was opened in transit and that when the frozen delicacy reached its destination the cream had finger prints in it and was otherwise damaged. He asks for $10 damages in consequence thereof. The case is set for a hearing next Tuesday.

New Enterprise.

The Star learns that a sand lime brick plant with a capacity of twenty thousand per day will soon be established at some point in or near Wilmington, convenient to water and rail transportation. Those interested in the enterprise will not give particulars, but it is understood that there is ample capital behind the project. The plant, it is said, will be in operation by January of the new year.

MAKING A MOUNTAIN OUT OF A MOLE HILL.

Wall street pretended to be extremely sensitive when William J. Bryan made his Madison Square Garden speech and among other things briefly mentioned that he believed that one of the eventualities would be the government ownership of railroads, suggesting as the best plan, in that event, Federal ownership of inter-State lines and State ownership of local lines. Although the Republican party is working that part of Bryan's speech for campaign purposes, little significance is being attached to it except as only one man's opinion and view of one of the problems of the day. In discussing the financial situation the Financial Chronicle, of New, the other day dismisses in this fashion the Bryan speech as a disturbing element:

"Mr. Bryan's suggestion of government ownership of the railroads of this country does not seem to have been received with a great deal of favor either on the part of the adherents of his own political party or on the part of the adherents of the dominant party. Senator Daniel of Virginia, made perhaps the most apt condemnation of the scheme. He coined a new word and said that the "politification" of the railroads would be the first result of Government participation. Government influence would give every man his position. Every man in the employ of the roads would be holding his place through the influence he could exert, and the men in that service would form a class which would unite to get all the money possible out of the government service. It would mean an increase of irom one-half to one-third over the salaries the railroad men are getting now. He also referred to Virginia's experience in government ownership, saying that before the war that old Commonwealth put many millions of dollars into building railroads and owning them, building canals and owning them, and he asserted that the State is only just now recovering from the disastrous effects of that policy."

It was announced a few days ago that Senator Bailey would give out a statement opposing Bryan's government ownership views, but it comes from Washington on Monday that Senator Bailey has "wisely reached the conclusion that he could spend his time more profitably during the campaign showing up the Republicans than by magnifying the suggestion with reference to government ownership, to which the Nebraskan gave expression."

Hon. John Sharp Williams is reported as saying on this subject:

"I am opopsed to government ownership of railroads irrevocably, now and forever, in theory and in practice—a question concerning which Mr. Bryan and I agree to disagree. But I see no good to be attained by my rushing into print on the subject. We will simply vote it down if offered as a plank in the Democratic platform. Meantime let us not magnify Democratic differences. There are so many things we are agreed upon, let us emphasize them—push them to the front if we can. Bryan is not infallible, and does not pretend to be. He is right about so many things, eloquently and greatly right, but absolutely and altogether wrong about this one thing, especially from the standpoint of racial peace and quiet in the South. Let us strongly regulate railroad rates, but not operate railroads."

WHAT MANNER OF MAN IS ROOSEVELT?

The Baltimore Sun neatly shows up the inconsistencies of President Roosevelt by making reference to the speech he made a few days ago at a church celebration at Oyster Bay. The Sun says:

"In his latest sermon, that to the Episcopal ministers, President Roosevelt's text included the following verse:

" 'For he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was.'

"Mr. Roosevelt was not so very long ago an earnest and valuable advocate of tariff revision. Mr. Roosevelt less than a year ago denounced the practice of corporations giving large sums to campaign funds. He demanded that a law be passed making public all campaign contributions. Mr. Roosevelt's Congress didn't pass any law letting in the light on the party management of campaigns. The same fat-frying commiteemen are moving the machine and the President is actively directing the Republican campaign. Mr. Roosevelt, the tariff revisionist, has suddenly become Mr. Roosevelt, the head of the standpatters.' Has he forgotten 'what manner of man he was?' "

The Sun merely exposes what in this instance is but one of the many examples of Roosevelt's inconsistency. There is plenty of evidence that the President can blow hot and cold equal to any of them.

DEMOCRATIC HAND BOOK.

The Star acknowledges the receipt from the State Democratic Executive Committee of a copy of the "State Democratic Hand-Book." The committee is sending the publication to all portions of the State, and a number of the books have been placed with County Chairman James H. Burriss for distribution. Those desiring copies should make early application to Chairman Burriss, as his supply of the Hand-Book is limited.

This book is larger than similar publications gotten out by the Democratic party of North Carolina and it is a really valuable reference book. It contains much valuable information and data concerning the political and material history and progress of the State. Every citizen who has the real good of his State at heart will find in it much that will gratify him concerning the management of his State's affairs by a patriotic party that loves North Carolina and works for her material advancement and promotes the contentment and happiness of her people.

THE RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER.

The Raleigh News and Observer yesterday entered upon its 60th volume, and judging from what the circulation manager has made the editorial man say in speaking of the progress of the paper, we should judge that the "Old Reliable's" prosperity is of the genuine type. Our esteemed Raleigh contemporary is able, vigorous, enterprising and newsy, and that accounts for it.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—One of the leading Republican campaign documents is Mr. Bryan's government ownership speech.—Baltimore Sun.

—Before he returned from Europe Mr. Bryan was known as "The Commoner." Now he is regarded as even more so.—Baltimore Sun.

—Speaker Cannon notifies Mr. Bryan that government ownership is impossible. Mr. Bryan probably knows it himself, but he will go on making believe he doesn't just the same.—Philadelphia Press.

—Heretofore all parties have courted labor, but if labor advocates themselves enter politics they must expect to receive as well as give blows. Mr. Gompers is already aware of this fact.—New York Tribune.

—Somebody told Mr. Bryan in London that there were not enough Democrats in the United States to "make two piles." But Mr. Bryan has proved that there were, although his government ownership pile is the smaller one.—New York World.

—President Roosevelt has a task before him. He is to speak at the unveiling of the monument to General George B. McClellan, and how to avoid mentioning McClellan's name is bothering him. He managed it once, but the strain this time will be much more severe.—Bryan's Commoner.

—During the first half of the present year, Japan sold this country $55,000,000 worth of goods, as against $40,000,000 to all Europe. Its exports to the other Oriental countries during the same period however, amounted to $106,000,000, or $11,000,000 more than to America and Europe combined. These are significant of the coming development of the Far East and of the opportunities for trade that await us there if we pursue a fair and reasonable tariff policy.—Schenectady Gazette.

—From present inlications, the trial of Hary K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White will not be called in New York until December. District Attorney Jerome has said that he will in all probability take personal charge of the prosecution, and as he will have a good deal of political work to do from now until election day he will not have time to give to the Thaw or any other case. The defense will be insanity, and Lawyer Delafield, Thaw's original counsel, says the young man is crazy now and was crazy when he committed the crime.—Savannah News.

—Habit is hard to break. Some Southern orators and newspapers are so accustomed to lugging the "nigger" into everything and depending on the color line for political success that they keep it up even after the negro has been put out of politics. They are raising the cry against government ownership of transportation lines that it would abolish the "Jim Crow" laws in Southern States. Government ownership is nonsense and this argument against it is equally nonsensical. The "Jim Crow" laws work well and to the satisfaction, generally speaking, of both races. They promote peace and keep down ill-feeling and will continue to do so if the transportation lines will obey the law and give the negroes a fear deal, as in the interest of both races they should be compelled to do. Long before government ownership becomes a practical question the success of the "Jim Crow" laws will be so thoroughly proved and everybody will be so entirely satisfied with them that they will not enter into the discussion.—Richmond News Leader.

TWINKLINGS.

—Vicitor—Are there any fish in the river? Native—Fish! I should rather think there was. Why, the water's simply saturated with 'em!—Punch.

—Summer Boarder—Like these picture postcards? Village Postmaster—Nope. Folks ain't got room to write anything interesting on 'em.—New York Sun.

—Two on a Hilltop: She (enjoying a new experience)—Oh, isn't that a most beautiful sunrise! He—Gorgeous! I could sit here all day looking at it.—Exchange.

—"Why is it," he asked, "that so many wives look like their husbands?" "They don't," replied Mrs. Strongminde. "A good many husbands look like their wives, though."—Kansas City Post.

—Wheels Incog: Goodfellow—Some wives act on their husband like a dirve wheel, and some like a balanced wheel. Cynics—Yes, and some are nothing but a fifth wheel.—Boston Transcript.

—The Apex of Impudence: Maud—Such presumption I never heard of. Belle—What did he do? Maud—Why, he had the audacity to call on me in town simply because I was engaged to him at the seashore.—Exchange.

—"There seems to be a great deal of uncertainty about the outcome of this trust business," said the investigator. "Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax, "the outcome is a little uncertain, but the income is pretty safe."—Washington Star.

—The Hobo—Please, mister, will youse gimme er few pennies for me starvin' wife? Ole Bachelor—Not me. In the firs' place I haven't got any pennies; in the second place I have no earthly use for a starving wife, and in the third place I don't want a wife anyway.—Chicago News.

Still Ahead in Low Prices

Our regular prices are much cheaper than any special prices yet advertised. Our goods are NEW. The following shows how and why we do and can undersell.

Discount on account of large purchases, average,	10 pr. ct
Discount for cash (we pay cash), average	10 pr. ct
Savings of freight on car shipment, average	5 pr. ct
Total,	25 pr. ct

As you see, we can sell goods at a profit of 25 per cent. and at the same time sell them for just what they would cost us if we bought in small quantities, paid local freight and bought on time. We do not try to make 25 per cent.

Our claim is corroborated by the number of prudent purchasers we send. For June the 1st to the present, we have sold $4,540.21 worth of goods, received more than $3,300.00 in cash. Our books are open for inspection of any doubters. When in need of furniture come to headquarters.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—The telegraph line of the Raleigh and Southern Railroad has been completed to from Raleigh to Fayetteville, and a telephone line will soon be established along the railway. This aids the railroad greatly, as its train movements have heretofore been hampered by lack of telephonic communication.

—The Secretary of State on Monday chartered the Charlotte Piano Company, of Charlotte, authorized capital stock $25,000, nominal capital paid in $400. Object to sell, buy, manufacture and deal in pianos, organs and other musical instruments. Incorporators, E. E. Perry, Cincinnatti; C. C. Bostic, Ray D. Diehl, W. C. Coleman, of Charlotte.

—The work of Tax Assessor J. A. Patterson, of Newbern, has been completed, and shows an increase in the valuabtion of city property, real and personal, for the year 1906 to be $3,334,293 as against $2,898,173 in the year 1905. The colored tax valuation is in round numbers $330,000, which shows a notable acquisition of property among colored people.

—A Greensboro dispatch says: It is supposed here that W. C. Southern, whose dead body was found to-day near Reidsville, committed suicide. He left home early Sunday morning not telling his wife where he was going. He has recently been in the employ of the Wyland-Newman Machine Co., and his fellow employes say he has often spoken of taking his life.

—Fayetteville Observer: Two colored women engaged in a duel at Timberland in western Cumberland, last Sunday. One was armed with a 38-caliber pistol, and the other a 32-caliber rifle. Raeford Facts and Figures says: "They exchanged several shots, but no damage was done. John Beal's wife, one of the particlpants, was arrested Tuesday in town. We haven't heard from the other."

—Mason, the son of Ernest Benson, of Concord, met with a very bad accident Saturday evening that cost him an eye and may call for the amputation of an arm. The lad, who is 16 years of age, was out hunting with some companions. He sat down on a log, allowing the gun to drop to the ground by his side. The gun was fired, the bulk of the load missing the boy's head and the arm was torn up badly, one eye being put out by a shot.

—Reidsville special, Sept. 10.—Watt Southern, a white man apparently about 37 years old, was found dead in the road about six miles south of Reidsville this morning. A revolver was found at his side, and investigation showed that he had either shot himself or some one else had fired the fatal shot, the bullet going through his brain. Papers found on his person indicated that Southern's home was on West Lee street, Greensboro, and the remains were sent to Greensboro for interment.

—Asheville Special, Sept. 10: W. T. Crawford, the Democratic nominee for Congress from the Tenth District, and James J. Britt, his Republican opponent, opened the joint campaign at Robbinsville to-day. A special from there says that a good sized crowd greeted the Congressional aspirants and that the parties were about equally divided. Graham county, of which Robbinsville is the county seat, is close. The Democrats carried it last ear, and Mr. Crawford is confident that he will carry the county by even a larger majority than Gudger did.

—Williamson Enterprise: Last Sunday evening while Mr. Sam Wynn, resident of this county, was feeding his stock, one of his horses kicked and seriously wounded his little son, Sylvester. Mr. Wynn was in the act of coming from his barn with some fodder in his arm, and his little boy, who is only seven years old, was driving the horses from the water trough, and it seems that he got too near the horse's hind hoofs, which, as he was a spirited animal and full of life, let his heels fly and struck the boy in the temple. He lay unconscious for eight hours, but when last heard from was improving rapidly.

—Littleton Times-Herald: A man named Matthews, from Virginia, was smoking in the ladies car last Sunday on 41, when Captain Huff asked him not to smoke in that car. Matthews told him that he would see him at Norlina, and when the train arrived Matthews walked up to him and cut him several times in the face. Let the law deal with that gentleman as he deserves. The grand jury at Warrenton on the 17th should investigate the matter and see to it that he is brought back here for trial. It is the duty of every good citizen to see to it that those who wilfully violate the law shall pay the penalty.

—Lumberton Robesonian: It is our opinion that the Democratic convention acted wisely in instructing its senator and representatives to have enacted a law establishing a legalized primary law for the selection of all county and township officers and senator and representatives and that the law be so safe-guarded as to prevent all illegal and fraudulent registration and voting and that all persons who shall participate in said primary shall be bound to support the nominee of said primary. The primary system has its faults as does any other system, but as a whole we believe it is more Democratic.

—Salisbury Special, Sept. 10: Through Attorney G. W. Garland, of this city, the heirs of Fuller Porter, colored, have instituted proceedings against the Southern Railway Company, and the Southern Bell Telephone Company, on account of the killing of Porter at Spencer last February. Porter was literally burned a live by an electric wire dangling from a pole on one of the principal streets. Damages in the amount of $5,000 are wanted. Porter's life was insured for $1,000, and it is learned action will be brought to force settlement, it being alleged by the company that he was killed by a voluntary act of taking hold of the wire, thus invalidating the policy.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Sept. 11: On the apepaled docket for September term of the Superior court is an interesting and unique case against David Henry Pugh, of Barton's Creek township. He is charged with selling adulterated butter. Mr. Pugh brought to market in July a quantity of butter which was bought by A. Dughi and others. It was condemned by Market Inspector J. N. McRary and upon analysis by State Chemist B. W. Kilgore, it was found to have been adulterated with tallow. A warrant was issued for Pugh and the case was heard before Police Justice Badger, who imposed a fine of $25. The defendant appealed to the Superior Court.

—High Point Special, Sept. 10: Yesteray it was reported over town that a negro had been shot and was expected to die from the wounds, but up till a late hour last night the report could not be verified. However, the negro died last night and the location of the shooting was found to be outside the incorporate limits. The dead negro was John Carter. It is said that he was shot by John Sharp while engaged in a game of cards. Later it was stated that Sharp did not do the killing, although witnesses say that Carter accused him of it. Sharp is still at the camp, where the shooting occurred, while there are a dozen or more negroes short at the camp to-day. It seems that if Sharp is connected with the crime others are more so, since they took leg bail and he remained.

—High Point Special, Sept. 11: Walter Matthews, a white man aged 25 years, committed suicide here today by honging himself. Going to the back of the house he tied a plough line to the rafters and then around his neck, jumping to his death. He was found about one hour after. No note or anything was left to throw light on the suicide. Matthews has been hard of hearing for some time and lately had gone about deaf. He was a young man of rather peculiar disposition, and when once aroused was almost unmanageable. Saturday afternoon he engaged in a quarrel with a negro man who slapped Matthews in the face. This so angered the young man that he secured his gun and would have killed the negro had he not been restrained. Fearing that he would be arrested, coupled with the other things which he brooded over, is the possible cause of his rash act.

—At Raleigh on Monday Tom Ellis, colored, was bound over to court without bail for trial for his life on the charge of burglary. He was positively identified as the man who was seen in the room of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. E. Moore one night. Two witnesses only, Mr and Mrs. Moore, were put on the stand. Mrs. Moore very coolly, calmly, and deliberately, but with positive candor, declared the defendant to be the person who entered the room of Mr and Mrs. Moore on the night of the alleged burglary about four o'clock. She said she would never forget the face, that the features were very impressively fixed upon her mind, that she had all opportunity to see his face clearly, he having entered the room facing the light and facing her, so that she had not even to move her head in order to get a perfect view of his face. She testified that he entered the room, went near Mr. Moore's bed and looked at him carefully as if to make sure he was asleep, and then turned around and blew out the light, which was a kerosene lamp on the mantel. As he blew out the light she screamed, frightening him from the room and waking Mr. Moore. He came in and necessarily went out through the room in which their son was sleeping, and from his trousers pockets were taken a pocket-book, a a knife, and $1.50 in money.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Sept. 11: In Raleigh last week were two highly educated and progressive citizens of Brazil, who has come to the State for the purpose of making investigation as to agricultural resources and methods with the view of applying their experience to conditions existing in the lands of their own country. They visited the Department of Agriculture, were much interested in an examination of the State Museum and returned on Sunday to Washington from whence they will visit other States before returning to South America. The two gentlemen were Gustavo R. P. d' Utra, who is engineer of agriculture and director of the Institute of Agricultlure of the State of St. Paul, Brazil, and Mr. J. Tibirica, who graduated in June from Cornell University and who on the trip is acting as interpreter for the director of agriculture who does not speak English. Mr. Utra was particularly interested in the conditions attending the raising of cotton and tobacco, both of which crops grew well in Brazil, studying methods of fertilization, etc., and was especially interested in the native grasses as applied to the raising of cattle. The visit of the Brazilian gentlemen serves to emphasize the widespread value of the work which is being done by the Agricultural Department in exciting the interest of the world in the resources and agricultural possibilities of the State. They are the third delegation from foreign countries which have visited the department in search of information within the year, the other two having been agricultural experts from China and from Japan, who not only came to Raleigh but spent some time in investigations of conditions on their own initiative in various parts of the State.

ACADEMY OFFERINGS.

Old Favorite "Human Hearts" and George Ade's Success.

"Human Hearts" the melodramatic success announced for to-morrow night at the Academy appeals to every class of playgoers. It deals with a story that teems with heart interest from beginning to end. Tom Logan, an honest young blacksmith in the Arkansas Hills, falls in love with and marries a reformed confidence woman. The dull country life soon palls on her. She accidentally meets her former lover and "pal." Without any just cause, they conspire together to ruin Tom and kill him if necessary. The woman calls him while her accomplice conceals himself. The father of Tom responds and is mistaken for the young blacksmith. He is fatally stabbed by the ambushed man. Tom, coming out to see where his father is, is accused by the adventuress and her "pal" of the murder. He is finally sentenced on that charge. But his friends ultimately establish his innocence and he is released. Retribution overtakes his villainous and murderous accusers. No play of its kind possesses a stronger plot or more sensational incidents. The serious element is mingled with comedy, forming a combination that never fail to touch a responsive chord in the hearts of play-goers. Seats are now on sale.

George Ade so well-known as the author of "Fables in Slang" will be heard at the Academy Saturday night when his musical satire "The Sultan of Sulu" is produced. It is said to be one of the funniest things seen on the extravaganza stage for a long time because it has that touch of satire which Gilbert used so often and which was once or twice employed by Hoyt. It deals with the American invasion of the Philippines, and is said not only to be beautifully mounted, but funny and melodious. Albert Sykes is the "Sultan" and is said to employ a few methods that were not used before. There are natives, army officers, school teachers and comedians who are in a class by themselves. There are a dozen or more songs in the piece which are said to be catchy. It is evident that most of those who have read the "fables" will try to see the show. There is nothing slangy about the dialogue particularly. It is only American. Seats will be on sale Friday.

"SPANNING DEATH'S ARCH."

Sensational Feature Here With Cole Brothers' United Shows.

With Cole Brothers' United Shows, due to exhibit at Hilton Park, in Wilmington, next Monday, will be found an act which has made other managers sit up and notice things since the opening of the season. It is termed "spanning death's arch," and persons who have witnessed it proclaim it a highly sensational and daring feat—one which seems to prove that its author,M'lle D'Zizi, possesses nerves of steel. She is a winsome and petite young native of Lyon, France, who twice daily juggles with death in accomplishing an act, the like of which has never been accomplished before by one of her sex. Mounting to the topmost pinnacle of a towering web like wooden inclined plane, this dauntless young lady seats herself upon an ordinary bicycle and, before the surging mass of expectant humanity below can fully realize just what she intends to do she has started upon her frenzied flight. The bravest heart seems to cease beating for the moment, as machine and its charming rider near the earth, 30 feet from which both shoot upward and onward into space, having left the curved end of the frail structure's first section. Like a bird on the wing they fairly fly through the air, high over the broad backs of herd of elephants, clearing a space of 55 feet and landing upon the last portion of the light wooden path. It is a wonderfully hazardous exploit and, as M'lle D'Zizi safely reaches the ground, smiling and bowing to the anxious spectators cheer is given. This unparalleled deed of daring is given absolutely free of charge on the show grounds directly after the parade and again at 6:30. p. m. Even if you will be unable to attend the performance do not permit anything to interfere with your seeing M'lle D'Zizi span death's arch.

AS TO ATTORNEY'S FEES.

Judge Purnell Makes Order in Regard to Bankruptcy Matters.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 11.—Judge Purnell, in the Federal Court to-day, made an order that in future referees in bankruptcy entertain and send up no petitions for attorney's fees for the petitioning creditors in involuntary cases and follow strictly the rules. He declares the court will hereafter refuse in all cases to exercise discretion given to allow attorney's fees in such cases. The judge says petitions for exorbitant attorney's fees without regard to services rendered or dividend to be paid creditors have become embarrassing and harrassing to the court exercising discretion vested under section 64 of the Act.

That Liquor License Again.

It now transpires that the opposition to the granting of the license to A. W. Branch, trading as the Morris Distilling Company, is to be heard before the Board of County Commissioners upon the same grounds that it was all but successfully fought before the Board of Aldermen at its last two meetings. The matter was originally referred to Chairman McEachern of the Board of Commissioners with power to grant the license when in due form and yesterday three members of the Board had granted their approval of the license when word came from Mr. Empie, counsel for the opposition, that he would like to be heard before the Commissioners granted the license. The Board, of course, granted the hearing to Mr. Empie and has officially called a meeting for next Tuesday afternoon at which time the matter will come up and be disposed of.

Steamer Richmond in Port.

The Atlantic Coast Lumber Company's steamer Richmond, previously reported with her machinery disabled at Southport, was towed up to the city last night by the tug Blanche and will probably repair here. While off Frying Pan earlier in the week the Richmond lost her propeller and was compelled to drop anchor. The tug Arrington of the same company on her way to New York with a barge laden with lumber saw the steamer at anchor and dropped her tow in time to go to the larger craft's assistance, bringing her into Southport and proceeding with the barge yesterday.

Meeting of Union Men.

There was an enthusiastic meeting of the Central Labor Union last night in Central Hall, on the fourth floor of the Atlantic National Bank building. After the business of the session there was a spread of refreshments which was heartily enjoyed by all. There will be another meeting on Friday night of this week for the purpose of reorganizing the Central Union and the delegates from the various organized branches of labor in the city are requested to be in atendance at this time.

JANE KENNARK AT ACADEMY.

Well Pleased Audience Witnessed "Toast of the Town."

A fairly large audience and one that seemd eminently well pleased saw and heard Miss Kennark and company at the Academy last night in Clyde Fitch's popular comedy-drama, "The Toast of the Town." Miss Kennark was most pleasantly remembered from last season when she appeared in the more serious "Eternal City." She has well established herself in the hearts of Wilmington theatre-goers and the production last night was received well.

Last of the Season.

The various Sunday Schools and religious organizations of the city have been favored with many pleasant excursions during the Summer by Capt. Jno. W. Harper, but one of the pleasantest of them all is promised in the delightful outing on the steamer Wilmington to-morrow night under the auspices of the Market Street Epworth League. It is said to be the last of the season and the young people will no doubt avail themselves generally of this last opportunity. The steamer will leave her wharf at 8 o'clock and will run down to Old Brunswick, touching there for a view of the ruins of Old St. Phillip's church. The searchlight on the steamer will be brought to play on the scenery along the route and a real interesting affair is promised. Refreshments will be served on board and all friends are invited to join the party.

SENATOR FORAKER RIDICULED TEDDY.

Spoke at Ohio Republican Convention and Jocularly Criticised President Roosevelt,

SPEECH WARMLY RECEIVED.

Former Governor Herrick Made Chairman of Convention and Delivered Speech—Had Whipped Out Foraker and Dick Machine.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Dayton, Ohio, September 11.—In Welfare Hall, the immense dining room of a local manufactory arranged with a seating capacity of 7,000, O. B. Gould, chairman of the State central committee called the Republican State convention to order this afternoon. The temporary organization was announced as agreed on by the State committee with former Governor Myron T. Herrick, of Cleveland, temporary chairman; John R. Malloy, of Columbus, temporary secretary, and Richard Gilson, of Steubenville, sergeant-at-arms. Because of the unusual nature of the contest before the convention great interest was manifested and he big hall was well filled when the temporary chairman was announced.

Chairman Herrick addressed the convention. At the conclusion of the speech, before other business could be transacted, the crowd insisted on hearing United States Senator Foraker. After some urging the Senator delivered a characteristic address in which he touched on some of the points made by temporary Chairman Herrick, criticising in a somewhat jocular way some of the matters acted upon by President Roosevelt and especially joking about the matter of spelling revision.

The speech was warmly received, especially when the Senator paid his tributes to the various prominent Republicans in the convention and talked about Mr. Bryan.

After the usual announcements of committees the convention adjourned till 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

WAS REPUBLICAN SLUMP.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Portland, Me., September 11.—With fifty towns and plantations missing out of 520 in the State, unofficial returns show that Governor William T. Cobb, received a plurality of 7,366 votes in yesterday's election. The vote of 470 towns heard from give Cobb, Republican, 67,548, Davis, Democrat, 60,182. Most of the missing localities are accessible only by canoe or stage and many had not been heard from for three days. If Governor Cobb holds close to the Republican vote of four years ago in the missing towns his plurality will approximate 9,000, but this will be the smallest plurality received by any Governor since 1884.

CURES ULCERS OF 27 YEARS STANDING.

Wilton, Granville Co., N. C., Feb. 27, 1892.

Gentlemen:—I have known Mr. J. W. Mitchell for the past seven years and during that time he has suffered a good deal with a varicose leg, the lower third of the calf being ulcerated His trouble began about 1863, after an attack of Typhoid Fever. The right leg became enlarged and then ulcerated, and has been in that condition for 27 years with partial recoveries and relpases. He has been treated by various doctors, principally with antiseptics, without any permanent good. Last fall he began using the Calcium Chloride Water both internally and washing the ulcers with it. His improvement has been marked while using it. The enlargement has reduced considerably and the ulcers are entirely healed, and his general health has improved very much.

SEC. SHAW AT STATESVILLE.

Reception Attended by People Irrespective of Party.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 11.—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, addressed a large audience of representative people at Statesville today at noon. He delivered practically the same speech he made at Salisbury last night. He was accompanied to Statesville by a number of prominent Republicans, among them Congressman Spencer Blackburn, by whom he was introduced. Following the speaking in the opera house, the Secretary was tendered a public reception at the Hotel Iredell and after the reception was driven over the city and suburbs. The people, irrespective of party, joined in the reception to the distinguished visitor during his stay at Statesville, as they have elsewhere, and he expressed himself profoundly impressed with the hopitality of orth Carolinians. Tonight he left for Asheville, accompanied by Internal Revenue Collector Brown, of the Western North Carolina district. He is scheduled to speak in Asheville tomororw and in Knoxville, Tenn., Thursday.

A DISCOURSE ON A PRACTICAL MATTER.

Under the above caption. The Charlotte Observer of Sunday, Sept. 9th, contained the following editorial endorsement of the McKanna Three-Day Liquor Cure. No such endorsement has been given any other treatment by such a reputable newspaper.

There is printed in to-day's paper as a page advertisement a letter from Governor Glenn indorsing the McKanna Three-Day Liquor Cure. Governor Glenn speaks from knowledge of patients who have taken it and has himself sent patients to Dr. McKanna. Any treatment which will cure men who are addicted to liquor is a boon to the human family and deserves the countenance of all men who love their kind. The victims who take it are to be commended and those who contemplate doing so are to be encouraged. When one looks around and observes the ravages that liquor has wrought there is something wrong with one who would not, if he could, help a fellow creature enslaved by it free himself. This is not a sermon upon the religious aspect of the subject nor a homily upon its moral phase. But if a literal world-ing is candid with himself he will concede that liquor drinking is an expensive habit which carries no adequate compensation with it. for liquor does not nourish nor strengthen men. On the contrary, it devitalizes the man physically and enfeebles him intellectually. This is altogether apart from the financial impoverishment which it so often entails and from the lowering of the moral tone which frequently leads to absolute debasement. The matter is treated here purely from its practical side. No man realizes that he is on the road to physical ruin, mental enfeeblement, financial impoverishment and a state of degradation but should welcome an agency which would arrest his course, and those who are happily themselves free of the vice should, out of a spirit of common humanity, hail it as the savior of others. The McKannan treatment is sixteen years old. Telegrams published in this paper two or three weeks ago from the chief officials at Oklahoma City, Ok., the home of the cure, told of its standing and that of Dr. McKannan there. By authentic accounts this treatment has effected many notable cures in North and South Carolina, and, to end where we began, the agency which rescues men from the slavery of drink is a God-send to mankind.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

A FAIR TRIAL.

A dealer who carries Dixon's Graphite Axle Grease in stock decided to make a test for himself. He greased the left wheels of a large wagon with the Dixin Axle Grease and the rig ht wheels with another grease. At the same time he instructed his driver to examine both wheels from time to time and report, but under no circumstance to put on any more Graphite Axle Grease as long as the Axle was black and shiny, showing the graphite coating.

The driver reported that after he had greased the right wheels four times with the other grease, the left wheels were still running all right and needed no attention.

USUAL BOASTING OF REPUBLICANS.

National Campaign Book Makes Roosevelt the Issue and Toadies to Negro—Humor of Some of Its Claims.

Mr. T. J. Pence, Washington correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer, writes under date of Monday:

"The Republican Text-book for the campaign has been issued, and before the week is over the Democratic campaign committee will follow suit. Such a boasting document as the Republican campaign book has probably never been surpassed. It assumes the attitude that should the Republican party cease to exist the United States would fall off the map. Two chapters are devoted to an argument to show that the prosperity of the South is due to the Republican party.

"One of the humorous features of the text-book is the declaration that 'on the great national issues of the day the Republican party is harmonious and united as never before.' Only as late as the fact that the Republicans are badly split as to the wisdom of revising the tariff. The controversy which reached the President's official household by reason of the declaration of Secretary of War Taft in favor of tariff revision has been going on among the Republicans of Congress for several years, and only this summer came near disrupting the organization in Iowa. It is equally as disturbing in other State organizations. But the Republicans have a way of smoothing over their differences at election time, and they do so because they are not afraid to apply the party lash.

Sop to the Negro.

"Our Colored Citizens" is the title of one of the prominent chapters of the text-book, which boasts of the fact that no Republican legislature has ever enacted laws "which make it impossible for a colored person of refinement to travel in decency or comfort from one part of the State to another." This remarkable chapter, beginning with a reference to the civil war and the abolition of slavery, is an appeal to every negro in the land to stand by the Republican party. It points with pride to the fact that there are 4,610 negroes holding office in the government service, and that they draw in salaries during the course of a year the sum of $2,853,734.

THE BREATH OF LIFE

It is a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs mean powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chiefest study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora A. Stephens, of Port Williams O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. O, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." Well Worth Trying.

W. H. Brown, the popular pension attorney, of Pittsfield, Vt., says: "Next to a pension, the best thing to get is Dr. King's New Life Pills." He writes: "they keep my family in splendid health." Quick cure for Headache, Constipation and Biliousness. 25c. Guaranteed by all druggists. **

ALABAMA FOR WM. J. BRYAN

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 10.—The Democratic State convention tonight nominated John R. Tyson for chief justice of the Supreme Court and Jno. H. Dowell and T. C. McClellan for associate justices.

The platform adopted makes the following reference to William J. Bryan:

"We endorse all essential principles and policies advocated by Democracy's great leader, W. J. Bryan, especially his arraignment of trusts, private monopolies and abuse of public service corporations. We proclaim him the greatest Democrat of our time and believe in his overwhelming election as the President of the United States. We endorse him as the standard-bearer of our party in 1908.

"In line with the policies of our leader, we favor the complete control and regulation of all corporations and the annihilation of trusts by the national and State governments acting within their respective spheres, and demand the absolute divorcement of railroad trust influence from National and State affairs."

ABOVE THE FORD

By Nora Bryant

Copyright, 1906, by K. A. Whitehead

Ludlow sat on the river bank, with the dog's head on his knee. He was very tired and very much exasperated. He had left the survey camp immediately on receiving Gretchen's letter, telling of her arrival at the De la Rio ranch and had thought to cover the hundred miles between camp and ranch easily, but Indian river had risen inexplicably and Kywak refused to swim the ford, so now, within five miles of the ranch, it looked as if he would miss seeing Gretchen after all, for she did not expect him and her visit was but a three days' affair.

Therefore Ludlow sat behind a huge rock, which sheltered him somewhat from the raw wind, and while getting his breath alternately patted the head of the panting dog and shook his fist at the distant figure of a horse calmly grazing on buffalo grass.

"Hang it!" repeated Ludlow. "Hang it! I thought Kywak had got over her foolishness about fording. Was I asleep or crazy that I let her jerk the bridle from my hand when I led her down to drink?"

The dog looked up sympathetically. The ninety-five miles of racing after Kywak had been nothing to his long boarhound legs, but this wild herding of a single clever Indian pony for three hours had been a little strenuous. He had done his best for his master, but when he was not allowed to catch flank or throat in powerful jaws how was he to hold a horse? Bismarck was a boarhound, not a collie.

Ludlow glowered at the cheerless heaps of rocks that guarded either bank of the river.

"It is cold enough," he said, "for the river to be frozen. Just my luck to have it twice as deep as usual! Well, Bismarck, old boy, I see nothing for it but for you and me to leave Kywak to her cussedness and swim the river. And I'll be a fine sight to Gretchen after two years! Oh, well, who knows whether she'll care or not?"

Ludlow rose and began to tramp up the river. "It is a bad idea to move away from the ford," he thought, "but I'll go up a way and see if the river isn't narrower. It's too deep now to strike quicksand."

He picked his way carefully over the rocks. Indian river was always cold and always swift, but doubly so today, after the early winter rains. The day was bleak, with a half promise of snow in the air. The plains on the far side of the river were as dim and hopeless as the sky. As he paused at a point where there seemed promise of a shelving bank on either side Ludlow shivered and half turned back toward the impish Kywak.

"What's the use?" he murmured. "Gretchen half refused me once. She will probably wholly refuse me this time."

He stood in silence with one hand on Bismarck's head. Then he straightened himself with a jerk.

"No, old chap!" he exclaimed. "We'll see her again or drown in the attempt. Now, then, I've no way to get my clothes across except to swim in them. I'm not up to the Swiss Family Robinson stunt of carrying them across on my head. I'll leave my overcoat with Kywak. Come on, old faithful!"

He removed his shoes and tied them about his neck by the laces and walked down the bank into the rushing water, then stood still, with the water swirling about his knees. The current was much swifter than he had imagined it would be. However, the river was narrow at this point, so he took a resolute step forward and plunged in above his depth.

After the first shock the cold was not so bad. But the current! The downward swirling movement of the water was almost as powerful as quicksand. The pointed rock Ludlow had chosen for a swimming mark was a dozen rods upstream before he had swam as many strokes. Bismarck was swimming beside him, puffing and blowing like an infant thrashing machine. For a moment Ludlow thought of catching the dog's collar, but decided that they both might go down, though Bismarck could have pulled him across easily in quiet water.

The bitter cold of the water began to strike in, but Ludlow swam on with quick, strong strokes. Gradually it seemed to him that he was fighting a losing game. The swimming mark was hidden behind a curve in the river, while Bismarck had pulled quickly away from him and was now only a short distance from the shore.

Finally, after what seemed hours of swimming, he found himself a rod from the shore, where Bismarck barked at him excitedly. But, to his chagrin, though he dropped his feet several times, he could not touch bottom even at three feet from the bank. And the bank! Up and down the river, as far as he could see, it rose sheer and blank as a tiny canyon, with not a blade of grass nor a crevice for hand or foot hold. How Bismarck had made the leap he could not fathom.

He turned on his back, hoping that the current would hold him against the wall while he felt for a hand hold. But his fingers only slipped over the rough sandstone, while the river carried him rapidly downstream, and Bismarck followed, barking and whining. The weight of his clothes and the cold were by this time rendering him almost helpless.

Ludlow turned on his face and again let his feet drop. To his joy, they found a resting place, and he stood with his shoulders out of water. He rested, panting and fighting off the numbing cold, then again passed his hands up and down the face of the rock for a grip. The surface was hopelessly smooth. The top of the bank was too far above the highest reach of his hands, even with jumping, to grasp. He tried cautiously to walk along the bank, but found that his foothold was a mere outcrop of rock not more than a foot in diameter.

He dropped his bruised, bleeding hands in despair. Bismarck pushed his great head over the edge and whined piteously, with an eager light in his brown eyes that seemed to say: "Can't you understand? Can't you?"

Ludlow gave a great spring and caught the dog's collar with his right hand. Instantly Bismarck braced his mighty shoulders and pulled back. Inch by inch the man was pulled from the water until he grasped the top of the bank. As he let the dog's collar go Bismarck, frantic with excitement, caught the shoulder of Ludlow's coat in his teeth and, with little growls and whimperings as Ludlow scrambled and pushed, pulled him fairly on to the bank.

Late that evening the group around the fireplace in the living room of the De la Rio ranch heard a weak rapping at the door, followed by the quick, deep bark of a dog. As Jack opened the door Ludlow staggered in, white faced, hatless, his frozen garments crackling as he moved.

The sudden warmth and light dazed him, and he leaned weakly against the wall, the great dog crouching beside him. The group around the fireplace was speechless with amazement at the familiar figure of Ludlow in his strange plight.

Then Gretchen, who had gone white as her dainty gown, uttered a little pitying cry and, giving no heed to spectators, ran across the room.

"Fritz Ludlow!" she cried. "Fritz, what is it? What is the matter?" She threw her arms protectingly around his shivering body.

A smile of great sweetness and content came to Ludlow's drawn face. "Nothing is the matter now," he said, and Bismarck pawed his knee, with a jealous whine.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, September 11.—The cotton market was much less active today and ruled irregular within a comparatively narrow range, the close being steady, net unchanged to 3 points lower. Sales were estimated at 200,000 bales. The market opened unchanged to 4 points higher, the active months selling about 3 to 4 points net higher on the call in response to higher cables than expected and increased spot sales in the English market which local bulls affirmed were indicative of the effect of the September condition report on spinners. But the weather map was good, and at the initial advance here there was heavy selling by some of the local bears who forced prices off in spite of buying by Liverpool, a little scattering demand from the South and moderate support from local bulls. After selling at a net decline of 3 to 8 points, the market steadied, however, on a rather less bearish weekly weather bureau report than had been looked for and in the afternoon showed a net gain of 2 to 3 points. The close was off, however, under realizing by some of the early buyers. Few private crop reports were received, and but little spot news. Southern spot markets were 1-8c lower to 1-8 higher.

Receipts cotton at the ports to-day, 28,737 bales; against 13,481 last week, and 51,557 last year. For the week 110,000 bales against 72,746 last week, and 213,630 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans, 3.113 against 1,717 last year and at Houston 16.738, against 20,758 last year.

Futures closed steady. Prices follow:

September		8.66
October	8.96	8.90
November	9.06	9.02
December	9.20	9.16
January	9.26	9.24
February	9.35	9.29
March	9.43	9.39
April	9.46	9.43

Liverpool Cotton Market.

Liverpool, September 11.—Cotton, spot in fair demand, prices 9 points higher, American middling, fair, 5.03; good middling, 5.76; middling, 5.54; low middling, 5.34; good ordinary, 5.10; ordinary, 4.80.

The sales of the day were 10,000 bales of which 800 were for speculation and export and included 9,000 American. Receipts, 5,000 bales, including 4,600 American. Futures opened firm and closed quiet. American middling, G. O. C.; September, 5.18; September and October, 5.05 1-2; Oct.-Nov., 4.99 1-2; Nov.-Dec., 4.99; Dec.-Jan, 5d; Jan.-Feb., 5.01; Feg.-Mar., 5.03; Mar-Apr., 5.05 1-2; Apr.-May, 5.07; May-June, 5.09; June-July, 5.10 1-2.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, September 11.—The dry goods market was steady to-day with buyers disposed to proceed slowly. The restriction in production caused by the shortage of labor in the mills has brought about an acute condition in many lines of goods, notably in ginghams and other common fabrics. Cotton yarns on the coarser numbers are steadier. The largest known individual sale of prints to Manila was made this week and amounted to about 500 cases.

NAVAL STORES.

New York, September 11.—Turpentine, easy, 64½ to 65; rosin, steady; strained common to good, 4.10 to 4.15.

Savannah, September, 11.—Turpentine, steady, 62; sales 1,228; receipts, 1,308; shipments, 110.

Rosin, firm; sales, 2.883; receipts, 3,827; shipments, 1,702; stock, 66.010. Quote: A. B. C., 3.95@4.10; D., 4.20; E., 4.30; F., 4.35; G., 4. 40@4.45; H., 4.45; I., 4.45..4.50; K., 4.45@4.55; M., 4.50@4.60; N., 4.85@5.00; W., G., 5.10@5.20; W. W., 5.45@5.55.

CUBAN AFFAIRS BECOME CRITICAL.

Washington Government Deeply Concerned Over Gravity of Insurrection Situation.

INTERVENTION NOT ASKED.

Capitalists From United States and Other Countries Interested Have Made No Requests—Cruiser May Go to Havana.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, September 11.—The critical situation in Cuba is absorbing the attention of the administration to the exclusion of all other foreign topics, as indicated by the activity of the officials in the State, Navy and War Departments. The President at Oyster Bay is keeping in close touch with every development of the revolutionary movement in Cuba and is in constant communication by wire with the officials here, who indeed are even in receipt of detailed instructions from him as to what they shall do.

The prime object of the administration at present is to get at the facts, which it no easy task, in view of the mass of indefinite statements that emanate from various quarters. Particularly it is desired to know the present strength of the revolutionary sentiment in Cuba and the relative powers of the government and the insurgents.

As stated today officially, it is the purpose of the administration to proceed with great deliberation in dealing with the Cuban question and it was said on the highest authority that there would be no intervention by the United States unless the rebellion assumed the proportions of a general conflagration. It was further stated that there had been no application for intervention from any authorized party, which statement answered an inquiry as to whether any of the foreign governments whose citizens' interests were suffering from the depredation of the Cuban insurgents, had called upon the United States government to step in and preserve peace.

Another interesting statement from official sources was to the effect that careful inquiry had satisfied the administration that not one of the great American capitalists interested in Cuban plantations and properties had expressed a desire for the intervention of this government under the terms of the Platt amendment. On the contrary, it was stated these people seemed to be adverse to any such intervention, fearing that it would precipitate the destruction of their properties during the long guerilla warfare that might be expected to follow the landing of American troops in Cuba.

They realized that if they were paid for the property so destroyed (about which it is pointed out, there is no certainty, many international lawyers holding that a government is not responsible for losses caused by rebels), it might be a matter of ten or more years before and adjustment could be had, so they preferred peace under present conditions.

The development of the day was the admission that the American cruiser Des Moines, which sailed yesterday hastily from Norfolk had gone southward to Key West with the ultimate purpose of proceeding to Havana if developments within the next two days seem to warrant such action. There is no intention in this movement of the Des Moines of showing any partiality by the American government towards one side or the other in the present conflict in Cuba. The ship will be at Havana to serve as an asylum in case of need and be at the disposition of the American Charge. She is not a formidable craft, being only of 3,100 tons displacement and with a main battery of six inch guns but for the duty intended she will be quite as ineffective as a battleship.

The long military occupation of Cuba by the United States troops afforded an opportunity to army officers to become familiar with the island and probably no portion of the earth is better known to the military authorities of the United States than the Island of Cuba.

It is not expected that a large force would be used in case of intervention, at least nor for some time and not until demonstration of the need of a large force. All of the supply departments of the army have on hand all that is necessary for any force which may be deemed necessary for a first expedition.

The Situation in Cuba.

Havana, September 11.—So far as war developments went, to-day was one of the quietest since the outbreak of the insurrection but the public interest were deeper and discussion more animated and earnest than on any preceding day. The government's outright declaration that the war will be prosecuted to a finish was everywhere the sole topic of conversation. That fighting of a far more desperate character will result as soon as the news shall have spread throughout the provinces is not doubted in any quarter.

The fear of an attack by the insurgents on Havana is spreading and there are rumors more or less authentic from all directions of new uprisings in various quarters.

This afternoon the government forces in Havana paraded through the principal streets and were greeted with some enthusiasm. The parade, which was headed by the fine artillery band, consisted of 400 mounted rural guards, clad in the regulation khaki uniform of that organization, 200 mounted city militia, 600 infantry, rural guards and Volunteers, and a city militia company of artillery with two machine gun batteries. The parade was reviewed by President Palma at the palace.

Particular plans have been prepared for the defense of the outskirts of the city. It is not generally believed that there is a sufficient insurgent force near Havana at present to attempt to enter the capital.

The news that the United States is sending one or more warships to Cuba is exciting great interest here. Some at first were inclined to jump at the conclusion that the United States was about to take a hand at enforcing peace, but later the opinion became general that the act had not necessarily a larger significance than would attach to the sending of ships to South American republics under similar conditions. There is a general belief, however, that if marines are landed to protect American property and persons, they will not likely to be withdrawn until peace is thoroughly established with a guarantee of its continuance.

Members of the cabinet and other government officials who were shown the Associated Press dispatch, declared that they were not especially concerned, as the administration had nothing to fear from the United States which always had shown Cuba every friendship.

GREAT OUTRAGE AT NORFOLK.

Trolley Car Shot Into—One Negro Killed, Two Wounded.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 11.—Some unknown party fired a double barrel gun loaded with No. 4 bird shot from ambush tonight about 7:30 o'clock at Ocean View Car No... 20, city bound, betwen the old power house and South Oaks. As a result of the shooting two negroes, James Hackney and Leigh Lewis, were dangerous wounded and were hurried to St. Vincent's hospital for treatment. Another negro, Ed. Dudley, came to the police station and had two shots taken out of his left arm by Mayor Riddick and Dr. Speight.

The shooting took place as the car was speeding past a dense growth of oaks. When the shot came crashing through the windows in the rear of the car there was a panic among the twenty-five or more passengers aboard the car, among whom were several women.

The car was stopped and a search made by Motorman W. S. Armstrong and Conductor G. B. Sullivan, assisted by a number of passengers, but no trace of the murderous assailant could be found.

County officers were notified, but they, too, were unsuccessful in their search, although the country was scoured far and wide.

Hackney was fearfully wounded in the body and Lewis about the head. Hackney died shortly after reaching the hospital.

BEASLEY KIDNAPPING CASE.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., September 11.—A Virginian-Pilot special from Elizabeth City, N. C., says:

Joshua Harrison, who was arrested in Currituck county last week on the charge of being implicated in the kidnapping of Kenneth Beasley, the 10-year-old son of State Senator Beasley, and brought to this place for safe keeping, has been released in the sum of $2,200 for his appearance at the next term of the superior court. Harrison made a statement in which he denied having anything to do with the disappearance of Kenneth Beasley, and claimed he was at his home the day the boy was missed. W. S Newborne, Jr., and W. S. Newborne, Sr., prominent citizens of Currituck, became sureties for the bond required to secure the release of Harrison.

HORRIBLE CRUELTIES ON RUSSIAN JEWS.

Shocking Story of Massacre at Seldce Hundreds Dead and Wounded and Women Starving With Infants in Their Arms.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

Warsaw, Sept. 11.—With the sanction of the authorities, who provided an armed guard for the mission, the Associated Press correspondent this afternoon visited Siedlce, the scene of the murderous events of September 8, 9 and 10. The railway station at Siedlce, when the correspondent arrived there, was crowded with Jews, among whom were many starving women with infants in their arms. Almost on the moment there fell upon the ears of the frightened people the sound of a volley being fired in the town, which lies half a mile back of the station. A panic ensued, men trembling with fear and women imploring the soldiers for mercy, anticipating the slaughter of their loved ones and themselves. Gendarmes the guard at the station entered the waiting room and roughly ordered the people to be quiet, assuring them that their alarm was needless.

Proceeding to the town, the correspondent traversed Warsaw street which presented a desolate aspect, the stores and shops being closed and all of them showing signs of having been plundered. Pictures of saints were hanging ouiside the windows of many houses, mute appeals to the soldiery and looters to spare the inmates. Everywhere in the street were to be seen soldiers ready to fire on the least provocation. The streets were littered with Jews' hats, torn clothing and damaged carts.

The most severe damage had been donei n Pienkna street where the done in Pienkna street where the in many instances walls had been demolished with cannon shots, and goats escaped from their pens wandered through the streets aimlessly.

At the Victoria Hotel the dining room had been demolished of its furnishings and the doors of the guests rooms had been broken down and their contents thrown into the streets and burned.

From this point the correspondent was obliged to turn back, shooting having re-commenced. He was made a prisoner by some soldiers, but shortly afterwards released by the governor's order.

Refugees state that Governor Engelke was taken sick a week ago and that control of affairs in Siedlce then passed into the hands of Colonel Tuchanowski, an anti-Semite. The people at once began to desert the town, apprehending an attack upon the Jews.

Another refugee states that Saturday night the doctors at the Jewish hospital in Siedlce lighted the gas in that institution preparatory to operating upon the wounded who had been brought in, who numbered seventy, when without warning the soldiers in the street opened fire upon the hospital killing two of the inmates.

As a man was taking his wife and newly born child to a hospital they were fired upon by soldiers and the wife and child were killed.

A Jew ventured out of his house to bring some water for his thirsting little ones. As often as he reached the door with a pail of water soldiers compeleld him to empty the pail upon the ground. This was done eleven itmes The twelfth time the father appeared with water for his children the officer of the guard washed his boots in the pail and made the children drink the foul water.

In many cases the soldiers have spared the lives of the Jews upon the payment of $25.

By actual count 140 corpses were picked up in the streets, and it is stated that as many more bodies are hidden in cellars. Only one Christian is known to have been killed, and so far as can be learned no soldier was killed. Train loads of fugitives are leaving Siedlce for the south.

A Jewish child who begged permission of a military officer to search for his parents was kicked away by the officer. The undisciplined soldiery acted with the utmost brutality all through the troubles.

Here in Warsaw there are some fears of an outbreak. Soldiers tonight searched the Jewish quarter. Several conflicts resulted and two Jews were killed and eleven seriously wounded.

Forty-two supposed revolutionists have been arrested here and will be tried by a field court martial.

WOMEN HEROES OF CONFEDERACY.

Form of Memorial to Them Agreed Upon at Norfolk Yesterday.

WILL BE STATUE IN BRONZE.

Will Be Typical Woman's Sufferings and Sacrifices During Four Years of Civil War—Each State to Replica.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 11.—The form of the memorial to be erected in honor of the women of the Confederacy has just been finally agreed upon. It was suggested by General C. Irvine Walker, chairman of the U. C. V. committee, approved and submitted at the recent New Orleans reunion by Col. Mann, chairman, U. C. V. committee. It is in part as follows:

The grandest artistic design or model for a statue in bronze, typical of what the Confederate women did and suffered, will be secured and from it will be made enough replicas in bronze to enable the committee to place one on each Confederate State. These bronze statues will be erected on appropriate pedestals, each State determining the form of the pedestal for its monument.

The variation in these pedestals will relieve any monotony of simplicity, but the similarity of the crowning statues will most happily show that the South as a whole united in paying this loving tribute to their Confederate mothers.

In every part of the South will be seen these testimonials to show that in the hour of its most bitter and supreme trial, it had a grand womanhood who were loved, honored and appreciated.

SOUTH CAROLINA PRIMARY.

Anti-Dispensary Governor and Attorney-General Nominated.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Columbia, S. C., September 11.—The second Democratic primary in which candidates sifted from the first primary in this State, made the final race, was held to-day. At mid-night the votes are well in and Martin F. Ansel, local optionist, has defeated Richard Irvine Manning, dispensary candidate for Governor. Ansel received 38,178 votes and Manning 27,904 votes. The vote up to this hour is 66,000 and it looks as if the total vote will be about 80 per cent. of the first primary. J. Frazer Lyon, who conducted the investigations which revealed so much corruption in the dispensary, was elected Attorney-General by a vote of 39,405, his opponent, J. W. Ragsdale, receiving 26,312 votes. J. M. Sullivan was elected to the Railroad Commission, receiving 35,825 votes and defating the incumbent, J. H. Whaton, who received 28,600 votes.

NEGRO RUN OVER BY TRAIN.

Leg and Arm Cut Off on Yards Last Night.

A colored man who came in on the excursion over the Coast Line yesterday fell from the train as it was going ou of the yards last night, just beyond the Independent Ice factory. He fell under the coach and his right leg was so badly lacerated that it had to be amputated just below the knee while his right hand was also so mangled that it had to be taken off at the hospital to which he was removed soon after the accident. The man is about middle-aged and has a wife and several children at his home. At 2 o'clock this morning the amputation of the limbs had been completed and the patient had stood the operation well.

RUSSELL SAGE BELIEVED

That it was wise for the average man or woman to follow the advice of experts in financial matters. At one time, in discussing this matter, he said:

"There is a common fallacy, quite as prevalent with men as with women, that while for legal advice we go to lawyers and for medical advice to doctors, and for the construction of a great work we go to engineers, financing is everybody's business. As a matter of fact, it is the most profound and complicated of them all."
